

Happy Thursday Year 2!

I hope you are having a good day! Make sure you are getting some fresh air and exercise each day, it is really important for your mind and body. I know that when I do, I always feel my best.

By now you know, your first job is....

Record today's weather in your weather chart for astronaut Anna.

First up, maths

Yesterday, we started thinking about measuring weight. You found items in your house of different weights.

Do you remember what unit we use to measure weight?

We measure weight in grams (g) and kilograms (kg).

Today, I want you to practise weighing different quantities.
If you have measuring scales in your house, measure these quantities, if not, there are questions below for you.
You might want to measure rice, pasta or cereal.
Make sure to ask an adult to help you.

1. 200g
2. 500g
3. 300g
4. 20 g
5. 255g
6. 377g

If you don't have scales at home

1. Pick 6 items in your home.
You are a human weighing scale!
Order the items from lightest to heaviest.
2. Can you find two items which feel like they are of equal weight?
3. Fill in the missing gaps to make the sentences correct.

The _____ is heavier than the _____.
The _____ is lighter than the _____.
The _____ is equal to the _____.

Super challenge

How many cubes does the teddy bear weigh?

Explain how you know.

Try my challenge and send me your answer for 2 dojos.

Next up, a little phonics practise

Log into purple mash from the school website.

Click on the 'English' tab.
Then scroll down to 'SPAG' and click on 'Phonics'.

Now spend ten minutes practising your sounds.

Our next lesson today, is writing

Have a look at this picture.

What might the alien say as he looks at the earth?

We use speech sentences to tell us what someone says.

Remember, speech marks (" "), go around the words someone has spoken.

"What a wonderful planet," the alien whispered.

Remember, punctuation goes within the speech marks.

"How is it so big?" shouted the alien.

I want you to write some speech sentences telling me what the alien says. Try to use a range of punctuation to show how the alien says it. Can you use a different word for said too?

Send me a picture of your sentences. If you have used a range of punctuation, you might get some dojos!

Let's end our day with a little stretch

Try this cosmic, space monkey yoga. Edgar loves it!
Although, you all know he won't eat snacks that are as healthy as the monkey in the picture enjoys!

It feels so good to stretch after sitting down for a while!

Well done Year 2!

I have become a bit obsessed with space this week...

I hope you don't mind! I just find it so fascinating.

Do you?

Remember, if you need anything, please email the Year 2 email address.

I am going to go for another nice, long walk today to stretch my legs. Where do you go to get your fresh air?

Remember to read some of your book and practise your challenges today.

Have a lovely day!
